

To Find a God

*To find a god
she walks a broken trail
To seek a friend across a sea she sails
A sea of endless stars
A night of shining moons
A morning filled with sun
Beneath a sky that pales*

*To find a world
she listens to the rain
To understand a world engulfed in pain
A pain of endless night
A wind of searing heat
A storm of tortured souls
For here she must remain*

*To find a peace
she walks the path of war
To save a life
she seeks what came before Tales of time now lost
A long past tranquil age
Before the stain of death
To bring the light once more*

*To find herself
she stands alone at night
To find her home her lonely heart takes flight Across a sea of stars
A moonbeam guides the way
Into a glorious morn
With all that's wrong made right*