

Once Upon a Moonbeam

*Once upon a moonbeam
came a dark
came a light
coaxing her gently into a dream.*

*Once upon a starry sky
came the night
came the day
came the sense that she could fly.*

*Once upon a morning sun came a foe
came a friend
once when day had just begun.*

*Once upon a smiling face came a tear
came a joy
came a cloak of leather and lace.*

*Once upon a newfound friend came a trust
came a love
one on whom she could depend.*

*Once upon a god of old came a sign
came a charge
the stories centuries untold.*

*Once upon a land of peace
came a fire
came a wind
a burning rain leashed.*

*Once upon a heart of love
came a grief
came a smile
an eagle nests beside the dove.*

*Once upon a moonbeam
came a girl
came a dream
once upon a life, it seems.*

©Copyright 2018, Once Upon a Moonbeam, Steven Hamilton, insidepassagebookroom.com