

Beneath a Desert Moon

*Dreams arise from burning sands
Beneath a desert moon
Darkness yields to purest light
Shines on an elven rune*

*A cloak of truth awaits the one
Who comes from far away
A girl who knows not why she's here
For the gods have yet to say*

*Ogres wait, the gentle giants
Elves and humans too
The races stand determined all
Until the fight is through*

*The ties that bind us help us seek
The peace we all desire
But lines divide us even now
As daylight brings the fire*

*The one, the girl who dons the cloak
Must find the hidden way
To make us one of heart and soul
To see us through this day*

*Beneath a desert moon there lies
A peace, a love, a dream
Underneath a sky of stars
A better life it seems*